2010-2011 Counselors' Handbook
North Carolina's Independent Colleges and Universities

This handbook is also available online at www.ncicu.org/publications

North Carolina's 36 independent colleges and universities are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. They admit qualified students and administer all educational and employment activities without discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin, handicap, or gender, except where exemption is appropriate and allowed by law.

Why Consider Independent Colleges and Universities?

Because of the small sizes of North Carolina's 36 independent colleges and universities, a close-knit family atmosphere is present on our campuses. Most education is carried out in small classes by professors who are dedicated to undergraduate teaching. This atmosphere enables students to develop close personal relationships with professors — contacts that will be valuable to them as they enter the job market or apply to graduate school.

The liberal arts education that is the basis for academic programs at virtually all independent colleges provides a solid foundation for a lifetime of opportunities. While preparing young adults for their first job, this foundation also will enable them to adapt to the changes that will be taking place in the workforce during their lifetimes.

Much of a student's education, especially that which helps develop leadership skills, comes through access to extracurricular programs like student government, service clubs, performing arts and religious groups, and inter-collegiate and intramural athletics. Because independent college students aren't competing with thousands upon thousands of other students for limited access to a particular activity, each individual is freer to participate in a variety of these character-building programs.

Also, unique educational opportunities are available on every campus. Internships can provide practical work experience along with academic credits. Honors programs, independent studies and study abroad programs are other alternatives that can help a student create an academic program that best meets his or her needs.

On the financial side, while tuition may be higher at an independent college or university, other costs—room, board and books—are about the same. And if dormitory space is unavailable at a large university, the costs of living off-campus can quickly add up. Also, smaller classes and caring professors provide an environment in which students have access to the help they need to graduate in four years, often saving the cost of an extended education.

* Two-year colleges offer strong transfer programs designed to prepare students for advanced standing in a four-year institution. At these colleges, students may complete their basic liberal arts curriculum (similar to courses required in the first two years of most four-year colleges) and they may enroll in courses to prepare them for their chosen major, should they decide to transfer to a four-year institution.

How Can a College Education be Made Affordable?

If cost weren't an issue, selecting a college would be easy. A student would simply choose the one that offered the educational program, atmosphere and extracurricular activities that best meets his or her needs and goals. And in a sense, despite what you may have heard about financial aid, it still can be that easy.

The key point to remember is that the amount a family will be expected to contribute for college and the resulting eligibility for federal financial aid is determined by national standards that consider such factors as annual income, assets, debts, number of family members in college and other considerations.

It's important to keep in mind that the amount of federal financial aid eligibility and financial need changes according to the estimated expenses at each college, not by the amount a family is expected to pay. Therefore, more financial aid may be available for higher-cost colleges.

Grants, scholarships, loans and work opportunities, to the extent available, help cover the difference between what a family will be expected to contribute and the actual college costs. In some cases, a student may also be able to obtain additional loans to meet the family contribution.

GRANTS

- North Carolina Legislative Tuition Grant, $1,850
Every legal resident of North Carolina who has resided in the state for at least 12 months prior to enrolling in a North Carolina independent college or university on a full-time basis automatically receives a tuition credit of $1,850 from the State of North Carolina, based on the availability of funds. Some part-time students are eligible for pro-rata grants.
- North Carolina State Contractual Scholarship Fund, variable
In addition to the Legislative Tuition Grant, North Carolina resident students attending a North Carolina independent college or university who demonstrate financial need may be eligible for Contractual Scholarship Grants, which are funded by the General Assembly.

- North Carolina Student Incentive Grants, up to $700
These grants, funded by the federal and state governments, are offered to legal residents of North Carolina who are full-time undergraduate students and who have demonstrated substantial financial need. The program is administered by the College Foundation, Inc.
- Federal Pell Grants, up to $5,550
These grants are federally funded, and need is determined on the basis of a formula developed annually by the U.S. Department of Education and reviewed by Congress.
- Federal Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants (SEOG), up to $4,000
Funds provided by the federal government enable a college's financial aid office to award additional grants to students who have demonstrated exceptional financial need.
- College Grants and Scholarships, variable
Colleges and universities provide their own grant programs in addition to those offered by the state and federal governments. In addition to need-based grants, academic and athletic scholarships are provided by the institutions.
- Local Scholarships
Civic clubs and professional organizations award scholarships to students in their communities who demonstrate a commitment to the ideals of these groups.
- North Carolina Lottery Scholarships, up to $2,500
Funds provided by the North Carolina Education Lottery to provide financial assistance to needy North Carolina undergraduate students enrolled in at least six semester hours.

LOANS

- Federal Perkins Loans

This program, funded by the federal government, provides loans at 5 percent interest to financially needy students. Loan amounts are determined by college financial aid officers. Interest accrual and payments on these loans are deferred until nine months after the student leaves college.

- Federal Stafford Student Loans/
Federal Direct Student Loans

(formerly Guaranteed Student Loans)

These loans are available for students who are accepted for enrollment in participating institutions. A student can qualify for federally paid interest to the extent of demonstrated need. Payments are deferred until six months after the student leaves college. Students without demonstrated need also may borrow money through this program; however, interest is not subsidized by the federal government. Borrowers are required to make interest payments only on a quarterly basis while in college or they may defer repayment of interest until after graduation.

- Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS)

PLUS loans are federally insured loans. Through this program, parents may borrow to pay the total cost of a student's education less any financial aid for which the student may qualify. Interest begins to accrue on the date of the loan. Repayment begins approximately 60 days from the date of the loan.

- Institutional and Private Loans

Many colleges, universities and financial institutions have loan funds available to students in addition to those offered by state and federal agencies. Amounts, interest and repayment schedules vary.

- Payment Plans

Variable payment plans, which permit families to spread out tuition payments, are available at many institutions.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

- Federal Work-Study

These programs are administered by colleges with funds appropriated by the federal government and the college. Students with demonstrated need are given the opportunity to work at approved jobs.

- Part-Time Employment

Most institutions help students find jobs on and off campus. Students are selected for employment based on their qualifications. Need is generally not considered for this service.

SAMPLE FINANCIAL NEED ASSESSMENT

	College A	College B
Total Costs (including tuition and fees, room and board, books and miscellaneous expenses)	$15,000	$25,000
Family Contribution	-$5,000	-$5,000
Financial Need	$10,000	$20,000

Since the amount of need changes according to the estimated expenses at each college, more financial aid may be available for higher-cost colleges.

DESCRIPTION

Barton College is located in the heart of Wilson—a gracious, small, tree-covered city noted for its “Southern Hospitality.” Barton is part of Wilson's events and celebrations. With a total city population of 45,000, many of Wilson's artistic and cultural events take place on the Barton campus. Barton is also home of the 2007 NCAA Division II Mens' Basketball National Champions.

The First Year Seminar, a major component of the year-long weekly Freshman Advising System, fosters the personal, social, intellectual and emotional development of the first-year college student. Taught by specially screened and selected freshman advisors, the required course creates a sense of community, provides a forum for learning skills, and enhances the decision-making process in various areas of the freshman's life. The program has been recognized both on national and international levels. The college is divided into five schools. They are the School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Business, the School of Education, the School of Nursing, and the School of Behavioral Sciences.

DESCRIPTION

Outstanding features include cosmopolitan atmosphere resulting from large number of out-of-state students, friendly student body, and dedicated faculty whose primary concern is teaching. Each student is assigned a faculty advisor throughout his/her academic career. Our location is in a small town of 6,000 people, but we are only 10 minutes from Charlotte, the largest city in the Carolinas. We have the advantage of living in the suburbs, while maintaining easy access to the resources of a large city. You will find a campus that is physically beautiful, an atmosphere that is welcoming, and classes that stimulate students' minds and cultivate their spirits. Small class sizes with personal attention to help students succeed academically. The College community is characterized by academic strength, spiritual heritage, competitive athletics, and a vibrant campus life. Strong commitment to Catholic Benedictine traditions on which the College was founded.

DESCRIPTION

Bennett College, founded in 1873 as a coeducational institution and reorganized in 1926 as a women's college, is a member of the United Negro College Fund. Comprehensive academic advising and personal counseling services provide support systems to encourage success and promote excellence. Faculty and peer counselors work with students to create a program of study and campus activities best suited to the individual's interest, abilities and career goals. Within the college's three academic divisions — Humanities, Social Sciences and Education, Natural and Behavioral Sciences — the Bennett woman can concentrate in one major area, combine two or more majors for a specialized career goal or design a non-traditional program of study. The general education core of Bennett's liberal arts curriculum is designed to improve reading, writing and reasoning skills while inspiring each student to develop her own identity.

DESCRIPTION

Located in the beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, Brevard College is a four-year comprehensive liberal arts college affiliated with the United Methodist Church. Caring faculty and staff and a 9 to 1 student-faculty ratio allow students to be known, their interests and activities to be supported and their voices heard.

Brevard College ranks in the top forty in the nation for its First Year Experience program for first year students. That ranking places Brevard College ahead of institutions like Princeton University, Duke University and Stanford University in its ability to make freshmen feel connected to their college. The college's First Year Forum (FYF) program orients new and transfer students toward academic and intellectual success through a special one-semester course. A faculty, staff and student team introduces students to an array of resources, including academic counseling, campus services and opportunities for social involvement, leadership and responsibility. The Forum also allows entering students to set goals and to develop strategies to meet those goals.

Brevard College overall ranks among the best comprehensive colleges in the southern United States that focus on undergraduate education and offer a range of degree programs both in the liberal arts and professional fields. Brevard College has been ranked as a "Best Value" among comprehensive colleges in the South for the quality of its academic programs compared to net cost of attendance at the institution. Brevard College is also recognized among Southern Comprehensive Colleges for its high proportion of classes with fewer than 20 students.

A range of majors including Fine Arts, Business and Organizational Leadership, Wilderness Leadership and Experiential Education, Environmental Studies, Music, Teacher Licensure, Theatre, Religion Studies and Integrated Studies is available to its diverse student population (from 33 states and 9 foreign countries).

The College provides a variety of opportunities for leadership and service in numerous co-curricular organizations, including an active student government association. It balances nationally competitive athletic programs with a range of intramural activities and outdoor leadership opportunities. Brevard College's programs in music and art afford talented students exceptional educational and performance opportunities and enliven arts on campus. Its outreach and academic internship programs directly involve students in real-world problem solving.

DESCRIPTION

Since 1942, Cabarrus College of Health Sciences has prepared individuals for successful careers in healthcare. The College is located on the campus of CMC-Northeast in Concord, NC. Over 500 students enrolled in Cabarrus College programs in 2009-10.

Cabarrus College offers an exceptional health sciences learning environment. A small average class size of 20 students and an institutional focus on nursing and health sciences has created a uniquely successful learning environment. This is reflected by the excellent pass rates Cabarrus College graduates have on certification exams.

A primary component of the Cabarrus College learning experience is a strong commitment to community service by faculty, staff and students. All students are required to complete volunteer hours in the community prior to graduating.

Cabarrus College regularly hosts open house programs for prospective students to meet with program faculty and talk with representatives from admissions, financial aid, and transfer credit. A schedule is available online at www.cabarruscollege.edu.

Admission to Cabarrus College programs is competitive. To ensure consideration for admission the application for admission and all required documentation should be submitted by March 1 for fall admission and by October 1 for spring admission. An application received after these dates will be reviewed on a space available basis for all programs with the exception of the Associate Degree in Nursing. An application received after the established deadlines for the A.D.N. program will not be reviewed for that program.

DESCRIPTION

Thirty-six buildings sit on 850 acres in Buies Creek. Academic buildings are the center of campus. There are eight women's residence halls and seven men's as well as a four-story apartment complex.

Campbell University is in Harnett County, where North Carolina's coastal plain and Piedmont meet just east of the center of the state. It lies within one of the more progressive regions for education and research in the Southeast. Fayetteville and Raleigh are 30 miles away; within a half-hour's drive is the Research Triangle Park. Campbell's rural campus provides an excellent setting for academic and extracurricular pursuits. A small and close-knit community, Buies Creek personifies a tradition of Southern hospitality.

Presently, the university is divided into six different schools: The College of Arts and Sciences, The Lundy-Fetterman School of Business, The School of Education, The Norman Adrian Wiggins School of Law, The College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences, and The Divinity School.

DESCRIPTION

Located in historic northeast North Carolina in the community of Murfreesboro, Chowan University is just over an hour drive to Virginia Beach, VA and to the Outer Banks of North Carolina. The Chowan University campus consists of 300 acres and includes a beautifully landscaped oval lawn and the historic McDowell Columns Building constructed in 1851.

Chowan University follows the time-honored tradition of smaller, church-related universities where one finds such advantages as a real sense of "belonging" to a university family, instruction based on Christian pre-suppositions, economy in tuition and boarding, and interest in the individual on the part of the faculty and administration.

The Chowan University curricular emphasis on ethics provides opportunities for students to participate in discussions and activities that promote ethical inquiry, character formation, and ethical actions in their personal and professional lives.

Chowan University seeks to make intelligent use of the newest technology in the process of learning itself, by taking advantage of technology's ability to facilitate student learning in significant ways and by enhancing student/teacher relationships and communication. This commitment to communication technology in a liberal arts setting demonstrates Chowan's educational mission to integrate effective career preparation with a strong liberal arts education.

DESCRIPTION

Davidson College is designed for men and women seeking a vigorous and well-balanced undergraduate education. The campus, located on 450 acres in northern Mecklenburg County, has large expanses of lawn and woodland, towering trees, traditional architecture (even ivy on the walls) and an atmosphere of orderly purpose. There is always something going on: at the Alvarez College Union, with its steady stream of speakers, films and performers; at the modern, open-stack library, one of the finest in the South; on the athletic fields, where 80% of Davidson's students participate in intramural programs.

Davidson is 20 minutes from Charlotte and surrounding the campus is a close community, where students are actively involved in the life of the town. Participation in such areas as the town government and community development provide a unique part of the "Davidson experience." We strongly encourage you to visit the campus.

DESCRIPTION

Duke enrolls a geographically diverse student body, with students coming from all over the country and the world. The uniquely beautiful campus spans some 9,350 acres of pine and hardwood forest in a combination of formal gardens and untouched woods. Duke's limited enrollment places it among the smallest of the nation's major universities, and students enjoy an academic community that maintains a commitment to individual education and an appreciation of academic and individual diversity.

Academic resources for research and intellectual advancement include extensive technological and scientific facilities, an internationally known faculty and a nationally ranked medical center. Cultural resources include the presence of professional dance, musical and theatrical groups, and an annual artist series which brings to the campus well-known orchestras, opera and ballet. The residential setting of Duke affords a wide variety of opportunities for intellectual, cultural and social sharing among faculty, students and the surrounding Durham community.

DESCRIPTION

Elon is a selective four-year coeducational residential university located in central North Carolina. A dynamic private comprehensive university known for excellent arts and sciences along with outstanding professional programs. Elon is distinguished by its size: large enough to offer the academic and extracurricular options of a university with small classes and personal attention.

Nationally recognized as a leader in engaged learning, Elon's premier programs include study abroad (Elon is ranked #1 in the nation among comparable institutions for the percentage of students who participate); an internship program (80% of students complete internships); service learning (Elon was named one of the top three universities in the nation for community service by the federal government's Corporation for National and Community Service); undergraduate research and leadership. Graduate programs offer master's degrees in business, interactive media, and education, doctorate in physical therapy and a juris doctor from the Elon School of Law. Elon is also known for its beautiful campus. New facilities include Lindner Hall home of Elon College, the College of Arts and Sciences, the 60,000 square-foot Ernest A. Koury Business Center, the 82,000 square-foot Belk library, Colonnades dining hall, new student housing, and the new Gray and Spence Pavilions. Elon once again has been ranked in the top tier of southern colleges and universities - #2 among 118 by US News and World Report and among the top 10% of the nation's colleges and universities by the National Survey of Student Engagement. Kiplinger's ranked Elon among the nation's top 50 best value private universities.

DESCRIPTION

Greensboro College offers students a unique situation—a small college setting in a large university environment. With its emphasis on individual and personal attention for all students and the social and cultural advantages of a city of 250,000 people, Greensboro College provides an ideal atmosphere for living and learning.

Greensboro College is affiliated with the United Methodist Church and is centered on the liberal arts. Its mission as a College of the Church provides ample opportunity for ethical and religious growth. The Ethics across the Curriculum Program ensures that all students are exposed to ethical questions in all the disciplines. Faculty and staff are committed to providing services, activities and opportunities for each student's intellectual and personal growth.

The academic curriculum is designed with writing-intensive courses in most disciplines. Greensboro students benefit from an academic advising program that assists students in their classes. The College's commitment to individual attention and instruction is exemplified by a student-faculty ratio of 14 to 1. Co-curricular opportunities abound for Greensboro College students. The community service emphasis, co-curricular transcript availability, and the full complement of intramurals, clubs and organizations serve to round the student's experience.

DESCRIPTION

"The used brick and white columns of Guilford's Georgian buildings on the campus quadrangle house more than books, classrooms and student dorms. Quaker educators somehow manage to inject a vibrant reflectiveness into their institution that weaves a strong thread of consciousness into the fabric of life. A graceful awareness of right and wrong that can only be called civilized — Guilford, a Quaker school in one of the nation's oldest and distinguished Quaker communities, is a hotbed of hopefulness in a world reeling dangerously toward cynicism..."

Edward P. Morgan, ABC News

Excerpts from a national radio broadcast after Morgan spent a week on campus as a Woodrow Wilson Senior Fellow.

DESCRIPTION

Lees-McRae College is an engaged learning community where students are inspired to pursue excellence and make a difference in the world. We offer a challenging intellectual environment for every student in a setting that is rich in heritage and natural beauty with faculty and staff who nurture talents, inspire success, and prepare students for lives of meaning and purpose.

Lees-McRae sits high in the Blue Ridge Mountains of western North Carolina in the town of Banner Elk. In fact, our campus has a higher elevation than any college east of the Rockies. What that means for our students is an incredible array of outdoor recreation: snowboarding, skiing, kayaking, mountain biking, fly-fishing, and hiking – they're all just minutes from campus.

Lees-McRae College prides itself on meeting students where they are, then inspiring them to become something greater. This is true for students of all academic abilities. Student success clearly takes precedence at Lees-McRae.
It's a commitment that shows all over campus.

The College even has its own Division of Student Success, which offers First Year Experience, academic advising, tutoring, disability resources, a writing center, and much more.

The College's Honors Program challenges and engages highly motivated students, yet it retains the supportive environment. In every program, faculty are well known for their nurturing mentor relationships with students. A low student-teacher ratio enables them to give students the extra attention that so enriches the Lees-McRae educational experience.

Presentation technology is available in several classrooms and the college has a wireless computer network system in all residence halls, classrooms, study areas and even outdoors.

DESCRIPTION

Mars Hill College, an academic community rooted in the Christian faith, challenges and equips students to pursue intellectual, spiritual, and personal growth that is:

- grounded in a rigorous study of the Liberal Arts
- connected with the world of work, and
- committed to character development, to service, and to responsible citizenship in the community, the region, and the world.

Mars Hill College, the oldest educational institution in Western North Carolina, was founded in 1856. The college is located in one of the most beautiful regions of the United States, the beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina.

Mars Hill is just 18 miles from Asheville, recently named an "All America City" and one of the top 25 cultural cities in America. Asheville has the sophisticated attractions of a major metropolis, and is known for its quality arts, crafts and music offerings. The college is also just minutes from snow skiing, whitewater rafting, mountain biking, camping and hiking on the Blue Ridge Parkway.

The home of five colleges and universities, Raleigh bustles with professional and academic opportunities, cultural events, political activities and sports action.

Meredith is a private comprehensive institution for women that continues to build upon the established liberal arts tradition while fostering in students integrity, independence, scholarship and personal growth. Meredith was the first women's college to adopt a campus-wide laptop program enhanced by a wireless network. All undergraduate students receive a laptop loaded with professional and educational software. An Undergraduate Research Program supports faculty/student partnerships in the pursuit of research and creative activity in all fields and disciplines. With more than 650 student leadership positions available, Meredith places strong emphasis on leadership and personal development opportunities for women. A special session of LeaderShape, a nationally recognized leadership development program, is offered exclusively for its own students. In a community of people caring for people, Meredith College is dedicated to civic engagement. Students, faculty and staff volunteer their time to Meredith Reads, a literacy program; Meals on Wheels, Habitat for Humanity; and a number of other service organizations both locally and far afield. In a close community of committed learners Meredith College strives to equip each student with knowledge, skills and values that will enrich future lives.

DESCRIPTION

Peace College is a baccalaureate college of arts and sciences that challenges women to an adventure of intellectual and personal discovery, preparing women for graduate and lifelong learning, for meaningful careers and for ethical lives of purpose, leadership and service. The institution was founded in 1857 and named for founding benefactor William Peace, an elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Raleigh.

Peace College is located at 15 East Peace Street in historic downtown Raleigh, North Carolina. The State Capitol, Legislative Building, State Library, North Carolina Symphony, Marbles (a global learning center) and several museums (art, history and natural sciences) lie within a few blocks of the campus. As one of the cities in North Carolina's Research Triangle Park, the Raleigh location provides many opportunities for personal enrichment and professional development.

Facilities include five air-conditioned residence halls, an athletic field, six all-weather tennis courts and an indoor swimming pool. All residence and academic facilities have hard-wired and wireless access to both the campus network and the Internet. The newly-renovated library contains an active learning commons lab containing a mix of both PC-based and Apple-based systems. Apple-based desktops and laptops are available in biology and visual communication disciplines. Student research labs in chemistry, general biology and molecular and cellular biology are available. A recital hall in the music building, the Leggett Theater, and a dance studio are available for students in the fine arts. Flowe academic building features current and emerging technologies to support instruction in the communications media lab, global learning lab, psychology/ anthropology lab, psychology observation room and business/human resources lab.

Peace College's size provides students with many leadership opportunities. The College has strong residence and spiritual life programs. The governance of student conduct is based upon the honor system, in which all individuals associated with the community have a responsibility for establishing, maintaining and fostering an understanding of academic and personal integrity.

DESCRIPTION

We are here to educate the next millennium's teachers, doctors, scientists, clergy, coaches, artists, law enforcement officers, business owners, and community leaders.

Through Pfeiffer's Servant Leadership Program, you will earn more than a college degree. Rigorous academic study joined by character development, volunteer efforts, and engaged learning will provide a portfolio of experience to help you be more effective in life, work and service. Pfeiffer University can empower you to make a difference.

The University has a 300-acre campus with buildings in attractive Georgian Colonial-style architecture. Charlotte, Greensboro and Winston-Salem are within easy driving distance. The Programming Activity Council's entertainment series is popular with students, as is the Student Center and a modern gym-swimming pool complex. The blending of these academic and non-academic activities creates a campus spirit with warm appeal.

DESCRIPTION

Saint Augustine's college is an undergraduate, coeducational, liberal arts institution affiliated with the Episcopal Church. Founded in 1867 to educate freed slaves, the College's mission has grown with the diversification of its student body from an African American student base to one that is multi-national and multi-racial. Saint Augustine's College received national recognition from the Quality Education for Minorities Network for the preparation and graduation of students in mathematics, science and engineering. The College is consistently listed among the Top-Producing Institutions for African Americans in Mathematics and Statistics as ranked by Diverse Issues in Higher Education Magazine. Saint Augustine's College is committed to maintaining high academic standards and was recognized in 2009 by U.S. News and World Report as one of the Top Baccalaureate Colleges in the South.

Saint Augustine's College seeks to provide opportunities for students to serve the community by participating in volunteering programs, internships in social agencies, and by participating in special programs such as "Walk for the Cure" activities, community outreach, food drives and fund drives. Saint Augustine's College was named to the 2009 President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll, the highest federal recognition a college or university can receive for its commitment to volunteering, service-learning and civic engagement.

Athletically, the college competes in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) at the Division II level. Saint Augustine's College is a member of the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) Conference. During the 2009-10 season, the College earned seven CIAA titles. Most notably, Saint Augustine's College teams were also recognized for having the highest GPA of 3.0 or higher during the 2009-10 academic year. Insuring access to education continues to be the mission of Saint Augustine's College.

DESCRIPTION

Salem, a four-year liberal arts college for women, is known for excellent teaching and career preparation, a January Term that allows students to hold internships off campus, and its unique Salem Signature program, through which students examine their values, career goals and leadership styles along with broader social issues. Salem is one of the few colleges in the nation at which all students complete at least 30 hours of community service. Small classes, individual attention from professors, and close personal relationships among students are central to the Salem experience. A cherished honor code allows students to take exams unmonitored and unscheduled. Founded in 1772, Salem is the oldest women's college in the nation by founding date.

Salem College's 67-acre campus is located in the Old Salem restoration area of Winston-Salem (population 225,000), only a 10-minute walk from downtown. The city is a recognized cultural center of the Southeast.

DESCRIPTION

Shaw University is the oldest historically Black institution of higher learning in the South, and among the oldest in the nation. The main campus is located on the south edge of downtown Raleigh, adjacent to the Progress Energy Center for the Performing Arts and the Raleigh Civic and Convention Center. The College of Adult and Professional Education (CAPE) allows students in nine cities across the state of North Carolina the opportunity to pursue an academic degree through flexible course scheduling, independent study, and credit for prior learning experiences.

The College of Arts and Sciences and College of Graduate and Professional Studies departments constitute a variety of academic offerings that are geared toward today's employment market. The University offers numerous degree programs leading to the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Associate of Arts degree. Shaw University currently offers the Master of Divinity degree, the Master of Religious Education degree and the Master of Science degree in Curriculum and Instruction. In 1993, the University made courses in ethics and values central to the general education of all its students. Together, these courses emphasize character development oriented towards human fulfillment and social justice.

Approximately 35 states and 15 foreign countries are represented in the student population. The faculty is comprised of highly skilled educators of multiracial and poly-cultural origin. The small student to teacher ratio provides an environment conducive to learning and promotes student development and achievement.

DESCRIPTION

Located in northwest Winston-Salem, the 340-acre Wake Forest University campus is bordered by Reynolda Gardens, which has an additional 150 acres of walking trails and formal gardens.

Most of Wake Forest's more than 30 buildings are constructed of Old Virginia brick in a modified Georgian style and are surrounded by majestic magnolia trees.

Winston-Salem, a city of 223,532, grew from a Moravian settlement that was founded in 1766. It offers a combination of rich cultural heritage and modern business and industrial activity.

Barton also accepts CLEP credits for subject exams only. Barton also recognizes the International Baccalaureate (IB). A course-by-course review by the Registrar and the academic department(s) will specify placement and/or credit for higher level subjects passed at an acceptable level.

Belmont Abbey College

Belmont Abbey College will consider students of superior ability who have taken the Advanced Placement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board and scored 3 or higher for advanced standing. This examination allows students to meet the requirements of some college courses, with credit, and thus to qualify for more advanced work. In addition, the College accepts College Level Examination Program (C.L.E.P.) general and subject area credit for scores at or above the 50th percentile. Credit is awarded only for courses in the College's current curriculum. A maximum of thirty (30) academic credits will be offered for advanced placement and college-level learning acquired in non-traditional settings.

Bennett College For Women

Freshwomen can apply for advanced placement in selected courses if they have taken college level courses or have scores of 3 or better on the Advanced Placement Tests. Students may also apply for credit-by-examination in any of the subjects covered by the College Level Examination Program (CLEP).

Davidson College

Davidson College normally grants course credit for AP courses on which a student scores 4 or 5 to a maximum from all sources of four course credits achieved prior to entry into Davidson. For Calculus AB or BC, a score of 3 yields credit. History, whether American or European, requires a 5. A student who has more than 4 acceptable credits may choose among them. In Economics, French, Latin, and Spanish, a student taking more than one examination in the same subject receives a maximum of one credit. The "from all sources" pertaining to the maximum of four means AP, IB, and college courses taken during high school or in the summer following high school.

Guilford College

Advanced standing may be earned through the Advanced Placement Program of the College Board or the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) for a total of 32 credits for those examinations that correspond to courses in the Guilford curriculum. The required course First-Year Experience 101 cannot be waived by examination. Placement and credit decisions in the student's major must be approved by the appropriate departmental chairperson.

Placement requires Advanced Placement scores of 3 or better, or CLEP scores of 50 or better; credit requires Advanced Placement scores of 4 or better, or general CLEP scores of 55 or better. Subject CLEP scores must be at least 50 for placement and at least 55 for credit. General examination scores may apply only to courses taken to satisfy the general college or distribution requirement. Credit for other courses may be obtained only by taking subject area examinations.

Guilford also recognizes the International Baccalaureate (IB) for admission purposes. IB Credit will be awarded to students who have achieved scores of 4 through 7 on the Higher Level tests.

All first-year students are evaluated for proficiency in English and in the foreign language they wish to continue studying. On the basis of these evaluations, students are placed in the most advanced courses for which they are qualified. Students also will be evaluated for proficiency in mathematics.

High Point University

The University accepts scores of 4 or 5 for AP examinations which correspond to HPU courses. From 3 to 8 credits may be earned depending on the score and the examination. For a listing of the 2010 AP examinations and equivalents go to www.highpoint.edu/registrar/ then click on the link HPU Advanced Placement Equivalencies – 2010.

Johnson C. Smith University

Advanced placement for up to 30 hours of credit is available with scores of 3 or better on the Advanced Placement Tests. AP examination scores of 3 or above in disciplines offered by the University are accepted for college credit. Additional credit hours may be awarded for scores of 4 or higher, after consultation with the appropriate Department Chairs and Vice President of Academic Affairs.

Meredith College commends IB students for participating in this rigorous program. In admission and scholarship consideration, we give preference to students who earn the IB Diploma. Our credit policy recognizes IB work on a course-by-course basis. Students who take exams which are not listed here may submit their exam scores for credit consideration. SL — Standard Level; HL — Higher Level.

Credit for Completion of International Baccalaureate Certificate or Diploma Programs: Placement and credit are available for Higher-Level Exams with scores of 5, 6 or 7 (on either the certificate or the diploma). Students must obtain course equivalency recommendations from the relevant departments. Course work from the classes taken in preparation for the exams may be helpful in demonstrating what was covered.

Queens University of Charlotte

Students may submit results of Advanced Placement Examinations for advanced placement and/or credit.

International Baccalaureate-Credit will be given for scores of 5, 6, or 7 on the higher level exams.

St. Andrews Presbyterian College

Student achieving a score of three or higher on any Advanced Placement Program examination will receive a 3-hour credit in that subject area at St. Andrews.

Students may earn credit toward graduation through CLEP General Examinations and/or Subject Examinations. A maximum of 9 courses (27 credits) may be earned by scoring at the 50th percentile or above on any combination of the General and Subject Exams.

First-year students who submit official transcripts of college-level credit earned in liberal arts courses in accredited colleges and universities may receive credit for those courses at St. Andrews. If a college-level course is being used to satisfy high school graduation requirements, St. Andrews will consider granting college credit for these courses on an individual basis.
